

TORONTO STAR

PUBLICATION: Toronto Star

April 23, 2004

PAGE: A22

FOCUS: Eyelifts

> Toronto plastic surgeon Dr. Marc DuPéré has turned to Restylane... And he explains how surgeons are seeing eyelifts in a whole new light. "It used to be routine to remove the fat pads below the eyes. But we found that down the road, the patient would develop a very skeletal-looking eye. Now we redrape the it." Adding volume is also a way to eliminate one of the telltale signs of cosmetic surgery.

Plastic surgery on the decline

> Cosmetic From AL

"Surgical procedures are drapping very rapidly," says Manny Kapar, seetheties business director for Medicis "Women don't seast to be out up. They want to be treated and get back on the Bestylane and Perlane are derived from hydreonic scid, a naturally occurring sugar that depletes over the typically about four to amonths. The glabellar lines intehtal folds

Sonette lines new of the s off a face mises Namutology leal Cen-

Plastic surgery gets new wrinkle done a 'Injectable' products replace scalpel Evridor FIII-

Facial fillers puff up aging faces h painter tace is a filled suit tock comments Dr. Fileda Kir-ries, une of New York a top des matellings. Nature sees in Tu-MERICADETTE MUNICAL Socking and vightering are cut. Filling and phroping are in.

So say top comment, surgents state have rathered when the philosophy on turning back the

The trend is made abundantly the trend is made assumantly door to the present of the Seek Year 2004 and aging show which opens of the Metro Tourist Convention Control to mintrix and runs till Sandar

THE schoolsde includes tamper The schedule includes something the property of the philosophic includes the philosophic includes the second of traces of Trace, in to Tome it All and Look Younger in it.

residence. Series was in the residence of the series of th these facial Ellers, and others These bend filters, and others the Joseph of tylane and Perlane.

* Picase can Commette. A22 promittees to our of take it me anich." Toronto plastic surgeon Dr. Mare DaPere has turned to Restylane to help AIDS patients combat the ficial wasting caused by firm therapy. And he enplains how sunjects are seeing cycliffs in a whole new light.

"It used to be routine to sumow the firt pads below the eyes. But we found that down the road, the patient would de-valop a very sheletal-looking eye. Now. we redrape the fat, rather than respons it" Adding volume is also a way to elim make one of the telltude signs of cosmetic surgery. Take a look at Joon Hivers' hands; they are so young as her face." DuPere notes.

There are posting and bleaching agents that will enseth the skin's surface, but they won't take away depressions from loss of fat."

Microfat injections will, however, so fat is harvested from kneer, hips or but-tools and injected into the hands. DuPere charges $1,000 to $2,000 for the procedure

DisPere, who works out of the Visign clinic and is on staff at Toronto East. General, will soon begin clinical trials on a new form of hysbaronic acid-called Sub Q, which is expected to make chin and check implants obsolete. Sub Qhue a larger molecule size than Restylane and Pertane and is injected for deeper into the subcutaneous layer, between firt and bone

"This is a fantastic innovation." Solish says. "Over time you lose volume. The fat pad on the cheek falls."

Up until now, the answer has been microfit injections, but that requires surgery. "This is something which can treat large volume loss," Solish sees. The effect is a quick afternoon lift." The price for that quick afternoon lift.

ham't been set yet, since the product must still be approved in Canada, in the mountime, the injectable trend means more people can affind - and are willinginity - cometic treatments. While a traditional faceliff could run between $10,000 and $25,000, a visi of Beerglane is $450. DuPere generally uses one vial for lips, and a vial perside on the nasolubial folds, with excess usually left over for the marionette lines.

Factor in popular television shows like The Saute and Entreme Makeover and all of a sadden women and men who wouldn't have dreamed of going under the knife for vanity are rational-iming a "bee-sting of Boton." No wonder, then, that New You 2004 expects 20,000 consumers to seek out the advice of the cosmetic surgeons. decountelogists, dentists and boauty orports on hand this weekend.

Of course, there is one simple way to prograp drooping skin: gain weight.

"Very thin people line fat in their face and that contributes to uging," Solish says. "Henvier people with a rounded face tend to look younger.

Thosever, people don't mind addrog volume with injectables, but they are very much against the idea of gaining